A SAFETY SOLUTION

Red Rock Terminal

Red Rock is one of the busiest barge terminals on the northern reach of the Mississippi River and is an economic catalyst for the Saint Paul Area. Due to its high level of productivity, Red Rock Terminal currently suffers at it's only road access (shown by red cross below) from increased road and rail traffic congestion that has become a life safety issue. This situation adversely impacts Emergency Response Agencies as well as all other traffic from gaining access to almost 600 persons located in the Terminal. Creating The Northern Rail Connection (shown below in yellow) will divert all large train loading away from the entrance allowing for the free-flow of traffic effectively ending lengthy entrapments

Terminal At A Glance

- Home to 600 daily workers
- Up to 750 trucks passing through daily
- 2.7 million metric tons of cargo pass through the terminal per year
- $1.2 million in taxes paid (2017)
